ECSU: The Plans, The Schemes, The Progress

By Guy Lenoir

New student governments are usually elected amid loud sanctimonious promises of 'serving the best interests of the students', 'spending the students' money in a responsible way', 'seeking to provide the students with the best possible level of services possible', or 'allowing the students to feel more a part of the process of government'. After the ballots have been counted, however, the time comes when these high ideals must be translated into tangible projects.

The following is a synopsis and commentary on the activities of the Erindale College Student Union under the Presidency of A.J. Kent Tubman,

Computer Purchase

Perhaps the most expensive purchase ECSU has made this year is a NCR computer system. The system cost $13,000 and will be paid for in monthly installments.

According to V.P. Finance Dave Hallett the computer system will speed-up processes such as orientation registration and locker purchasing. The mechanical number crunching required in the Bookkeeping department will be made quicker and easier. The purchase of the computer makes the conduction of ECSU's business smoother since individual directors may keep track of their spending and thus avoid fiscal irresponsibility. This purchase accords with Mr. Hallett's objective of 'fine tuning the management processes at ECSU'.

Another director pointed out that the computer saves ECSU an approximated $900 per year in bookkeeping equipment. The computer is accessible to all ECSU directors and to any student group which might need to use it.

Photocopying Service

Another ECSU service instituted this year (on a trial basis) is the photo-copier service. This is primarily in reaction to the administration's move to increase the price of photocopying on campus from 5 to 10 cents. Gail McDonald, V.P. Administration also pointed out that it is a necessary piece of office equipment for ECSU. The photocopier will remain at ECSU if the demand by students is heavy enough.

Riderindale

A new program designed to help students cut traveling costs and time by sharing rides to and from Erindale, is being organized. A ride board will be set up in the new ECSU lounge. Maps will be provided and students will be able to co-ordinate rides to and from the college. Director John Spano is reportedly heading this project.

Publications

ECSU has traditionally produced a handbook designed to introduce new students to the college. This year, as usual, the handbook was produced, but the quality fell short of that which any new student deserved. The production of an Erindale College handbook is a job which should, for the best results, be given to people who are skilled in the field and not left up to enthusiastic but unskilled people. If ECSU wishes to continue to produce the handbook, it should ensure that the quality of the production is not substandard.

Another publication which was in effect a waste of a good idea, because of substandard production, was the Abusing Engineers Calendar. One cannot help but admire the work of Director Neil Wright, but because ECSU failed to invest enough money to produce a high-quality product, the publication may fail to realize its potential.

We are all aware of the continuing rivalry between Erin-dale and the Engineers. A calendar designed to ridicule engineers should be of similar or higher quality than the ones they produce each year. The inferiority of the publication seriously threatens the market potential of the calendar on the campuses as intended, ECSU should either join the trends in the publication business or forget it completely.

The Pub

A new manager has been hired to operate The Blind Duck. The former pub manager resigned after ECSU found his work unsatisfactory. A new management agreement was signed between ECSU and the University on Friday Sept. 16. The problems encountered with the old manager should not recur.

Plans

Much of what ECSU originally set out to do has already been accomplished. New plans have been made. Details of these will be made available in next week's issue.

Coming to Erindale!

Cuban Art Show

By Guy Lenoir

ECSU has decided to grant $400 to the Art Gallery for the Sponsorship of a Cuban Art Show which will be held at Erindale from Jan. 2-20.

The Art Show will be the first of its kind in Canada and is expected to attract much attention from the artistic community.

The money will be used to provide posters to advertise the event.

Nancy Hazelgrove, Artist in Residence at Erindale requested the financial assistance from ECSU because the cost of mounting the show exceeds the total operating budget for the Art Gallery this year. The show is expected to cost $3000 and the Art Gallery has an operating budget of $2500.

While some funds are expected to come from the Canada Council the money will be insufficient to cover the cost of the production.

ECSU VP Finance Dave Hallett says that providing the money for the posters would be good exposure for ECSU. It would attract the attention of wider cross-section of the community.

Jack Daniel Distillery. Named a National Historic Place by the United States Government.

AT THE JACK DANIEL DISTILLERY, you can taste for yourself why our whiskey is so uncommonly smooth.

Iron free, from an underground spring.

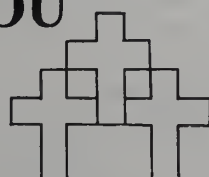

As soon as you sip the water we use, you can tell it's something special. That's because it flows, pure and iron-free, from a limestone spring located deep under the ground.

At Jack Daniel Distillery, we've used this iron-free water since our founder settled here in 1866. Once you try our whiskey, we believe, you'll know why we always will.

If you'd like a booklet about Jack Daniel's Whiskey write us a letter here in Lynchburg Tennessee 37352 U.S.A.

Just an Average ECSU... so far!

Every society gets the government it deserves. This is particularly true in a democratic society where the people actually choose their government by voting.

People have the option of removing a bad government, re-electing a good government, exchanging one good government for another... (and a variety of other possibilities). But what should we do to a bland government? In a dynamic, constantly changing world what does one do with a government that does nothing more than maintain the status quo. Of course while we thank them for not messing things up so far we must admit that things are unbelievably boring. Removing them is not quite the answer, you would merely invite a bunch of quixotic nuisances who might not bore but certainly perplex.

This year's ECSU is not lazy. They burn a lot of energy doing the same old things in the same old ways. If we maintain that people get the government they deserve we imply that the students of Erindale College are a boring lot who want a boring government.

This could probably pass as the truth except for the observation that no single ticket was elected in its entirety and the natural result of a coalition is a lively combination of different ideas. That's what you voted for. Is that what you're getting? No! They're not a rotten government. To this point they're adequate. They'll do if mediocrity is what you want. They're not lazy they have the energy to perform but they don't know what to do. They try hard. They're planning think tanks to generate ideas. Help them. Visit and tell them what you want!

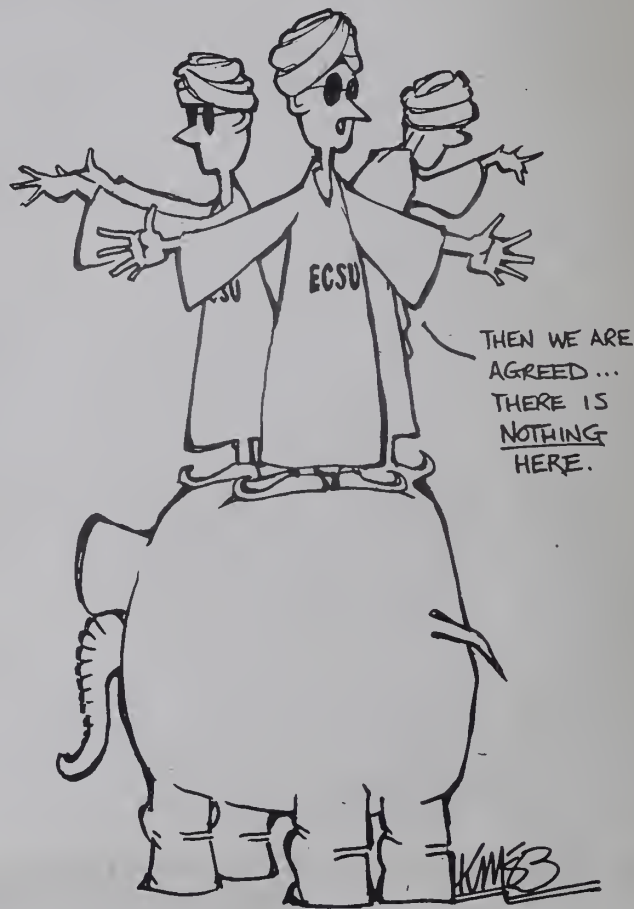

medium II letters

medium II has an open letters policy. Submissions should be directed to the Editor of medium II. Any letter that is not racist or libelous will be printed. Longer submissions may be edited. Unsigned letters will not be published. Names can be withheld upon request. Deadline for letters for the following week's paper is Friday at noon.

The Erindale Duck Shop

Since the opening of Erindale College, we, the students, have been plagued by the generic nomenclature of the buildings and establishments throughout the campus. There is the South Building; The North Building; the Crossroads Building and the Art Gallery, just to name a few examples. Now, ECSU has followed the tradition of unoriginality set by the administration by the name it has given to the newest addition to the College, The Erindale Tuck Shop. Can you imagine that? - The Erindale Tuck Shop?! Surely, ECSU can think of something more imaginative than simply The Erindale Tuck Shop? Is it not time to begin building up our traditions? We do have some traditions here, don't we? Of course we do. The Blind Duck is perhaps the one establishment on this campus that sets itself apart from the blandness here. The Blind Duck has become an institution at this College. The symbol of the Duck is an important part of this symbol. The name, The Erindale Duck Shop is definitely a more appropriate name than the Erindale Tuck Shop. Since the store is right beside the pub, it would add to the character of the setting to continue the symbol of the Duck. Also, it would provide a good opportunity for ECSU to break itself apart from the staunchness of the administration. After all, ECSU is supposed to represent the students, not the administration. Let's materialize and increase our identity here not hide it!!

Luciano's Editorial Flashback 1979 - 1980

Hundreds of fresh faced first year students descend on the mammoth concrete structure that is Erindale College-the suburban white monolith where life will finally become an experience.

Shiny new black Trans Ams and Camaros dot the parking lot, the first choice for any teenager whose parents will buy him or her a car. In their rock T-shirts and Nikes, they stand in sharp contrast to the seniors who sit in the Meeting Place in their down vests and plaid shirts watching the frosh amble into the library.

"Whatever happened to construction boots and frayed jeans?", they wonder.

In the corner a girl in a maxi-skirt carries her books in a backpack...

Flashback 1979

Teenage Head has rioted in the Blind Duck, someone has put Ex-lax in a batch of brownies and passed them around residence, and Erindale College and the City of Mississauga are evacuated as a train derailment spills deadly chlorine gas just down the tracks.

This event was the story that turned the medium II into a complete newspaper that year.

Up to that point we had been concentrating on sports and entertainment-dining out columns, theatre reviews, film, record, and concert reviews, sports columns, game analyses, etc. We were inexperienced, but enthusiastic, and we wanted to make the paper exciting. For a while it looked like we were going to be Rolling Stones and Sports Illustrated rolled into one.

The train derailment however, put us back on the tracks. We realized that news, too, can be exciting. We put out a special edition that was reprinted across Canada by the Canadian University Press which proved to us that we were indeed, a newspaper.

We patted each other on the back for a job well done and lept in the air when CUP rated our paper just as good as the Varsity in their monthly report. We rubbed that one in by printing the rating report.

Spring 1980

The underdog Rum Runners knock off The Flaming A's and Magnum Force and take the hated Enforcers into sudden death overtime in the third game of a best of three Floor Hockey championship. The stands are jam-packed and in a fever pitch; Archie plays "We are the champions"; but alas-the Enforcers prevail for the third straight year on a long shot from centre. Sports Illustrated should have been there..

Summer 1980

My two best friends are the president and vice-president of ECSU and they are in deep trouble. Three members have already resigned and medium II and a coalition of students are in a furor after they voted themselves $2,700 in honourariums. They both stand on the stage in the Meeting Place in front of 500 snarling students to explain. The Globe and Mail has already berated them in an editorial and Global TV and 2 radio stations are there to pick up the action for their newscasts. As an unwilling instigator of the whole mess I was torn between friendship and doing my job as editor that they were paying me for. I sat backstage while they plead their case in front of the student body, secretly hoping they would come through unscathed. They did, and we shook hands after it was all over-still friends.

Luciano DiGuglielmo Editor 1979 - 1980

Erindale College has no ivy-covered walls, no stone archways, no beautiful fountains, not even a fraternity! It looks sterile, bleak and boring. But when asked to reminisce about my final year in 1980, I looked back with much fondness.

Erindale is simply a great place to go to school! Academically it is first rate. And then there's Floor Hockey, Thursday Night in the Pub, Octoberfest in the Meeting Place and plenty of clubs and organizations to get involved with (especially medium II). Don't just drive to classes in the morning at 9:00 and go right home at 5:00. Participation is an over-worked word but it is essential to get the most out of Erindale. You really do "only get out what you put into it." To the "frosh" I say 'Enjoy your four years here. It will be the best time of your life!'

And Now...

Hundreds of fresh faced first year students descend on U of T West. In their nouveau haircuts and rugger pants they stand in sharp contrast to the Class of '79 who sit in the Meeting Place and wonder what- ever happened to rock T-shirts and Nikes.

In the corner, a girl in a mini-skirt carries her books in a backpack...

York Road: Moving Right Along...

By Wanda Ferguson

Clouds of smoke descend on the stage accompanied by an overture of classical music. Red spot lights illuminate the lead singer and keyboard player, leaving the bass guitarist and percussionist in silhouettes. The disappointingly small, but enthusiastic audience responded to York Road by crowding the dance floor not only for the opening song, but throughout the remainder of the evening.

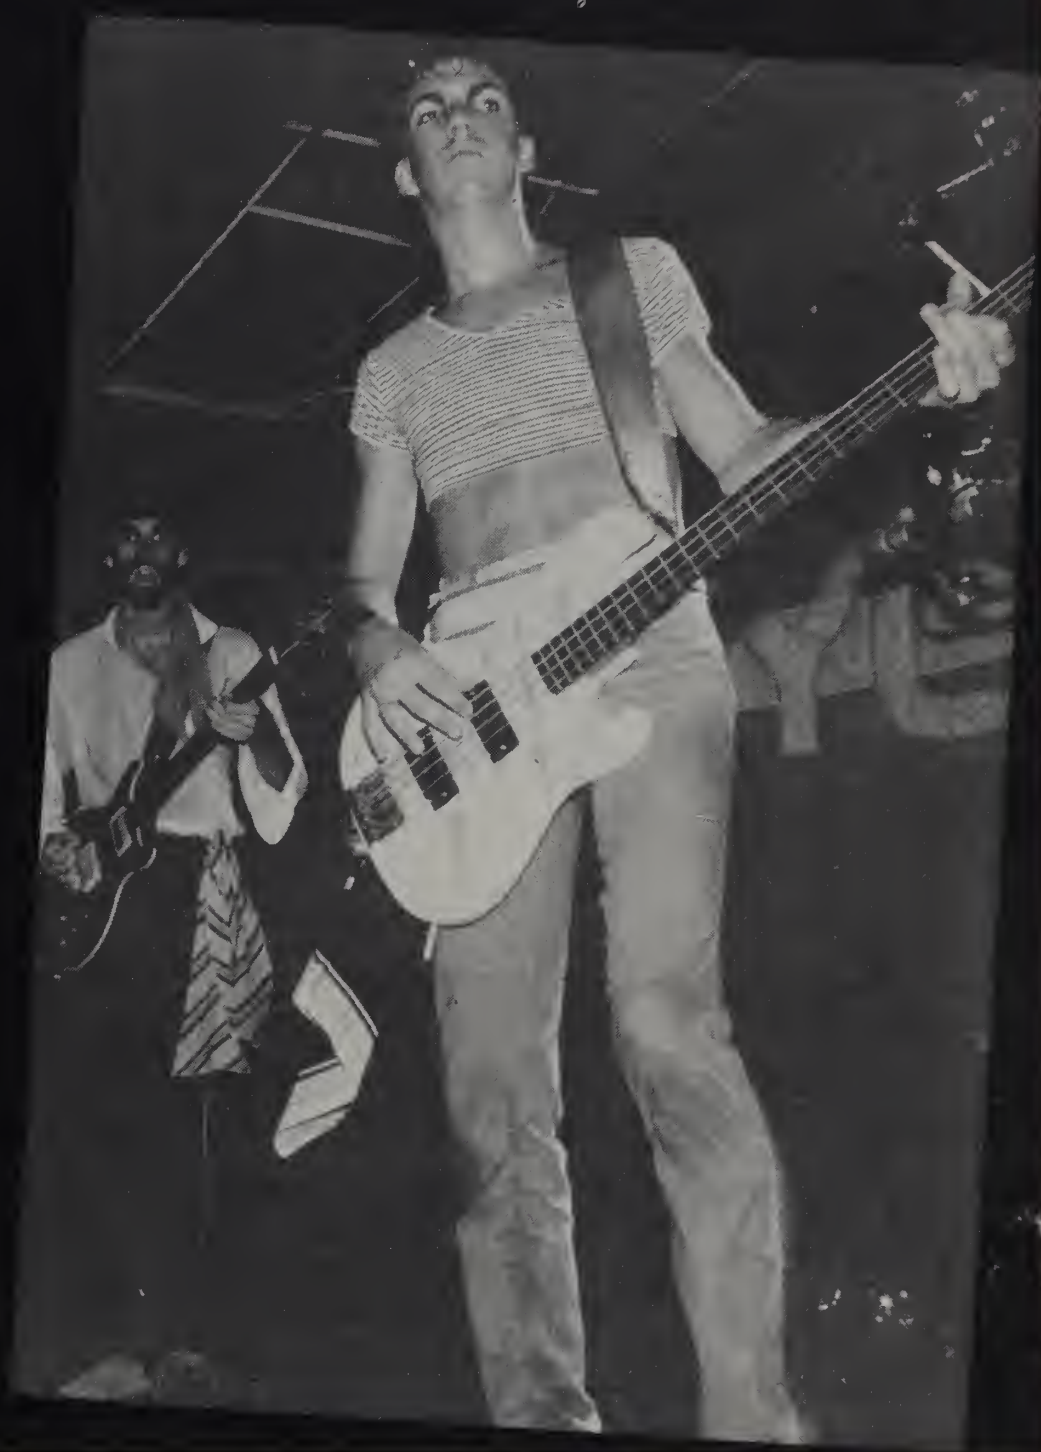

The weather, which apparently affected the attendance, did not seem to dampen the spirits of those present. Many had been patiently awaiting York Road's entrance since 7 o'clock, and were not disappointed when the band finally arrived.

York Road, a four-piece new-wave band kept the crowd dancing by performing a well-paced repertoire of current favourites such as The Clash, U-2, Billy Idol and 999 as well as a few old favourites by groups such as The Rolling Stones. The music, although somewhat loud and occasionally off-key was generally well-played and well-received. As always, there were some who were not impressed with the band, complaining that York Road was too commercial, unoriginal and lacking in depth. These seasoned music critics were few in number, however, since most of the crowd appeared to be quite pleased with the performance.

The encore proved to be the climax of the evening not only when York Road played "Rock the Casbar" and "White Wedding", but when an anonymous person clad in a turquoise toga and a garland of flowers (must have been a frosh!) jumped on the stage and tried to assist York Road by leading the dancing! The spirit of orientation '83 continues to live...

In general, York Road is a good bar band and a good crowd-pleaser. For those who enjoyed York Road's performance, there will probably be more opportunities to see them again at clubs in Toronto.

Trading Places

Judging by the popularity of MGM/VA's Trading Places and 20th Century Fox's Mr. Mom, the role-reversal theme is the most successful formula in the current crop of comedies. Trading Places, starring Saturday Night alumni Dan Ackroyd and Eddie Murphy, is a modern version of Twain's The Prince and the Pauper. Ackroyd is excellent as the snotty commodities broker Louis Winthorpe III. Also at his best, Murphy plays the flip-pant street-hustler Billy-Ray Valentine. As a result of a perverse bet by Winthorpe's employers, the Duke brothers, there is a drastic change in each of their fortunes. The humour of this film is found in Winthorpe and Valentine's adaptation to strange circumstances and their fitting revenge upon the Dukes. The film is rounded out by a strong supporting cast including Ralph Bellamy and Denholm Elliott. Trading Places is not only a film for Saturday Night Live freaks but should be enjoyed by everyone.

In comparison with Trading Places, Mr. Mom does not fare very well. The working wife-househusband theme is fairly fresh and the film certainly has its hilarious moments. Unfortunately, the laughs are too few and infrequent and the film often lags as a result. Michael Keaton is entertaining as he makes the switch from being a successful young engineer to a card-party-and-soap-opera-addict. However, the rest of the cast, including Terri Garr and Martin Mull are somewhat wooden. Mr. Mom is the sort of film that is worth seeing if one has little else to do but it is definitely not a must.

New Residences-Phase III - 100 More Beds

The Erindale Campus of U of T, the "Best of Both Worlds", will soon house one hundred more students.

The residences were to be finished by September for immediate occupancy. Difficulties with the original contractor made this an impossibility.

Bradsil Construction was hired as the new contractor. Work is now on schedule and should be completed by the first week in November.

The new set of residences, known as Phase III, cost approximately $1,000,000 to build. The residences should pay for themselves within a few years.

Each house will have four single rooms, similar to those of Phase II. There will be none of the six-man houses as those found in Phase I.

Once completed, Phase III will bring the number of residents at Erindale to five hundred and twenty five.

Don't hold your breath if you're thinking to apply for Phase III residence this year. All of the 100 beds have already been accounted for.

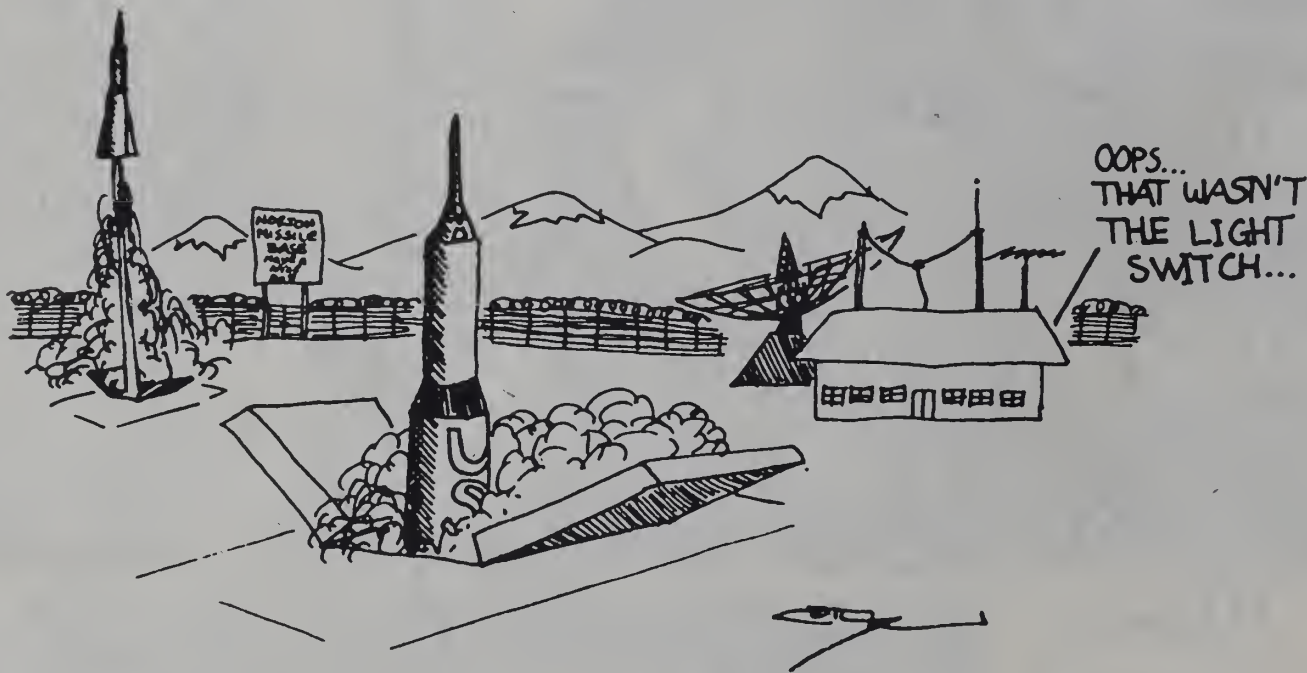

The students who were to move into Phase III in September are being accommodated elsewhere until it is completed. Alternate housing arrangements were made with the help of the Registrar's Office.

Considering the housing problems faced by students at other universities in Ontario, Erindale College is fortunate to have the space to construct Phase III.

When asked if there was a Phase IV in the offing, Michael Lavelle, the Housing Director, said that Phase IV is in the future, but a definite date has not been set.

Nuclear Arms Conference at Guelph

An upcoming conference on the nuclear question to be held at the University of Guelph is attracting considerable international attention and support. Concerned politicians, diplomats and citizens from the Soviet Union, United States, Western Europe, Japan, India and Jamaica as well as Canada will speak and exchange views during Strategies for Peace and Security in a Nuclear Age to be held at Guelph, October 27-30, 1983.

Dr. V.I. Gantman, of Moscow's Institute of World Economics and International Relations, General Scowcroft of President Reagan's MX Commission, and General Indar Rikhye of the International

Peace Academy are among the more than twenty conference speakers. Canadian representatives include the Honorable Walter Gordon, former federal Minister of Finance, and Archbishop Edward W. Scott, Primate of the Anglican Church of Canada.

Keynote speaker for the Conference is Kinhide Mushakoji of Tokyo. A vicerector of United Nations University, Dr. Mushakoji is internationally renowned as a peace researcher.

"We realized the need for such a conference, but were overwhelmed by the enthusiastic response and offers to participate when we initially discussed the matter with people in organizations such as the UN, NATO and the Department of External Affairs in Ottawa," explains conference organizer Henry Wiseman, a University of Guelph political scientist who specializes in peace-keeping.

Formerly a member of the Defence Research Board in Ottawa and director of peace-keeping programs at the International Peace Academy in New York, Professor Wiseman views the threat of nuclear war as the overwhelming crisis of our age. "Unfortunately people tend to take extremist positions which only heighten the conflict," he notes. "Universities are in a unique position to present a careful and balanced examination of the relevant facts and issues to the public."

The panel discussions and meetings will bring together international and Canadian experts in dialogue with educators, legislators, religious leaders and other concerned citizens. Prof. Wiseman stresses that students, faculty, staff and the general public are encouraged to attend.

Professor Wiseman and military historian Prof. Gunnar Boehnert, who are organizing the conference in co-operation with the University of Guelph's Continuing Education Division and the Liberal Education Committee are doing all they can to ensure that specific actions will result from the conference. "Talk is certainly not enough," says Prof. Bewhnert. "People must realize that ordinary citizens can exert influence on government and then organize in order to do so."

"When I was recently in Germany I talked not only to leaders of the peace movement, but also to many senior politicians in the government and the opposition," explains Prof. Boehnert. "It was clear that the German government will have a difficult time implementing measures which are broadly opposed by the public." A former RCAF pilot, Prof. Boehnert is a director of the Atlantic Council of Canada and a consultant for NATO.

Panel discussions will focus on the effect of the nuclear arms race in terms of the general costs and consequences as well as the impact on Third World development, arms control and alternate modes of security, medical and environmental implications of nuclear war, and practical measures for de-escalation of the arms race.

Registration for the main conference sessions is limited to 800 participants. The deadline for registration is October 15, 1983. To ensure balanced representation of different viewpoints, quotas have been established for each registration category. Registration fees for the main conference sessions are as follows: General Public and Institutional Representatives - $85; Educators - $45; Students and Seniors - $25.

For information about the conference, enquiries should be directed to Continuing Education Division, Johnston Hall, or call 824-4120, ext. 3956.

English and Computers, at last

By Patricia Meehan

The computer age has come to the English Department at Erindale College, in the form of Room 235.

Formerly part of the Student Awards Offices, this room has been equipped with ten terminals. These are connected to the VAX 780 VMS system in the South Building.

The location of the terminals traditionally the territory of humanists, does not mean that the terminals are for use solely by Humanities students.

Professor Lancashire, the Discipline Representative of the English Department, explained that the terminals are located in Rm. 235 partly for the convenience of the students enrolled in the Effective Writing course, ENG 100Y. He said however, that 'it's not restricted to any particular group', and so will be open to computer and other students as well.

There are seven sections of ENG 100Y with twenty-five students in each section. The students are being encouraged to invest in a micro-computer or a word-processor. ENG 100Y stresses rewriting and re-submission of work to improve the students' writing, a task done more easily and quickly on a micro-computer or a word-processor. Since buying one of these systems is not possible for many students, they will be encouraged to make use of the terminals in Room 235.

These terminals, provided by UTCS, were transferred from the South Building for easy access by the English students. The installation was done by UTCS advisors, Andy Twerdochlib, Ken Zwarich, and Wayne Matthews.

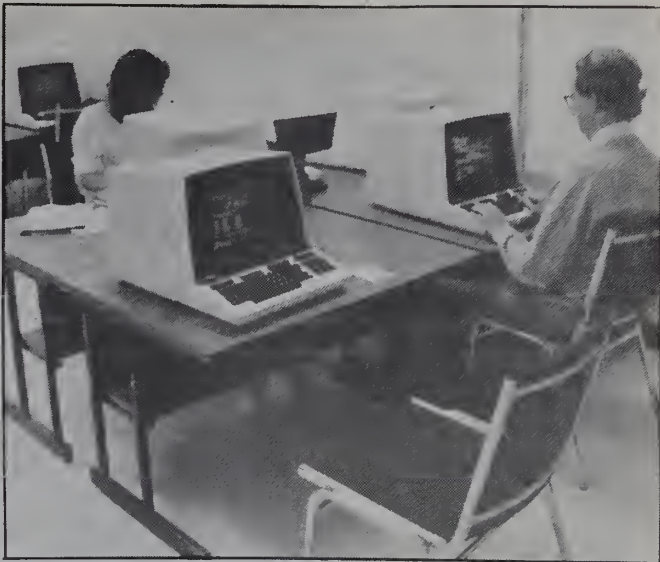

As Professor Lancashire pointed out, 'if you can make it possible for students to rewrite quickly, it will reinforce everything the course gives them'. Professor Guy Allen tried this method of rewriting and revision with a group of 25 students last year. It proved successful because students could see the differences effected by the editing suggestions of the professor in a matter of minutes.

The VAX 780 VMS system has an efficient and user-friendly editor known as EDT. Professor Lancashire stated also that 'accounts will be made available to all intending majors and specialists' who wish to make use of the computer for writing and rewriting essays and assignments. This system makes much faster work of editing than the old method of editing by hand.

In addition to the ten terminals, there is one DecWriterIII. Students may use this to print their assignments. They also have the option of sending their work to the South Building Computer Centre, to be printed on Erint1 or Erint2.

Room 235 will be open but unattended between the hours of 9 am and 10 pm on weekdays. There is not yet a schedule for the weekends. A phone will be installed so that students requiring help will only need to call the South Building Computer Centre.

New Pub Manager For Blind Duck

By Guy Lenoir

While controversy surrounds the resignation and departure of Larry Roecroft as manager of the Blind Duck, a new pub manager has been hired by the Pub Management Board.

Uwe Stoetzel will assume the responsibility of manager of the pub on Sept. 26, 1983.

According to ECSU V.P. Finance Dave Hallett, Mr.

Stoetzel was trained in Germany and has had 18 years experience in various aspects of the food industry.

The present acting manager of the Blind Duck who applied for the position of pub manager will retain her former job as assistant manager.

The Blind Duck is owned and operated by the Erindale College Student Union under agreement with the University of Toronto.

Students not Eager for Beaver

A strong sentiment is rising among Erindale students, to take over the cafeteria services presently provided by Beaver Foods Limited, when the company's contract with the administration expires in the summer of 1984.

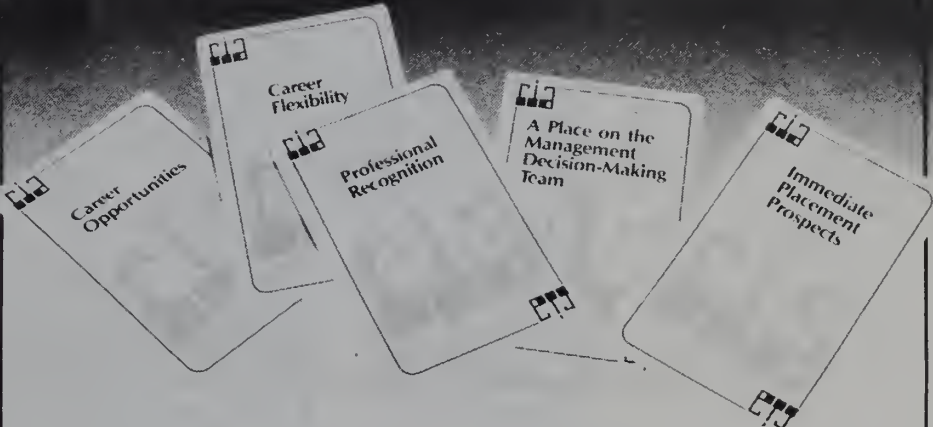

Student-run cafeterias have been organized at institutions such as the University of British Columbia and some high schools. The advantage of having the students manage the cafeteria is that the profits remain within the school and benefit the students directly.

Late in March of this year, a group of students circulated a petition on the issue of a student-run cafeteria. The petition consisted of two questions. The first was whether the students preferred to have Beaver Foods manage the cafeteria or if they preferred to have the students manage it. 90% of those who signed the petition were in favour of a student-run cafeteria. The petitioners explained that the staff of the cafeteria would not be required to leave. They would be responsible to the student body instead of Beaver Foods.

The second question was whether the students preferred to have ECSU or a separate student organization run the cafeterias. 70% of those who were in favour of having a student-run cafeteria were also in favour of having the cafeteria run independently of ECSU.

Deal yourself a winning hand...

Prepare yourself for success in today's highly competitive world as an RIA Management Accountant.

With your degree and the RIA designation you will have the professional edge in the job market.

You will be entering a profession that cannot supply RIAs fast enough to keep up with the demand from business and government...a need that is projected to continue through this decade and beyond.

RIAs are in demand because of their unique training in management as well as accounting. They have expertise in strategic planning, budgeting, operations control and data analysis. RIAs move ahead quickly on the management team.

Over 55% of all RIAs hold senior positions in business, industry and government. Your job prospects will improve the day you start the RIA program because employers recognise the commitment you have made to obtaining professional qualifications.

What's more, the RIA program is flexible. You can work toward your degree and RIA designation at the same time. In fact, you may already qualify for advanced standing in the RIA program.

Tennis Anyone – too cold for Love?

Although the falling mercury reminds us that it won't be long before the ski season starts, don't pack your Prince away just yet. There is still some tennis to be played before the winter winds descend upon us.

The first event for tennis enthusiasts relates to inter-faculty competition for the women. Singles competition will take place on the St. George campus on Friday, September 23 and Friday, September 30 from 12 noon to 5:00 pm. This is a good chance for singles players to meet some new players and get in more games. It is followed by the women's doubles tourney on Friday, October 21 from 7-11 pm and Saturday, October 22 from 10-5 pm.

The men get their chance to meet their downtown opponents on Friday, September 30 and Saturday, October 1. The men's events will be held indoors at the athletic complex downtown; so if you wish to compete you must sign up by 4:00 pm Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Touch Football

The intramural touch football league will begin on Tuesday, September 27, and several teams are ready for action.

For the newcomer to Erindale, this is the first intramural league available, an opportunity not to be missed. The league will accept either team entries or individuals (known as free agents) who will be banded together to form new squads. The deadline for these entries is Wednesday, September 21, so don't delay, enter today. Entry forms and rules are available at the ECARA office. Referees are also needed to officiate the games.

FOOTBALL FLASH! Rumours of a co-ed team featuring Belinda Ballhawk and Beth Boomer Smith are circulating. This dark horse entry may not be championship material, but it sounds as if they'll have a lot of fun!

Bonspiel

This year's curling season is less than one month away. Sign-ups have already begun at the Athletic Office. Last years members enjoyed a great season of fun and competition. We sent teams to bonspiels at many other universities in Ontario. Our mens varsity team came in third place in Ontario! For a chance to be on the varsity team, or just for a good time, join the curling club! New curlers are welcome, and lessons are available. We meet each Friday at the Highlands Curling Club. For more information, see the sports board, or call Steve at 233-1072.

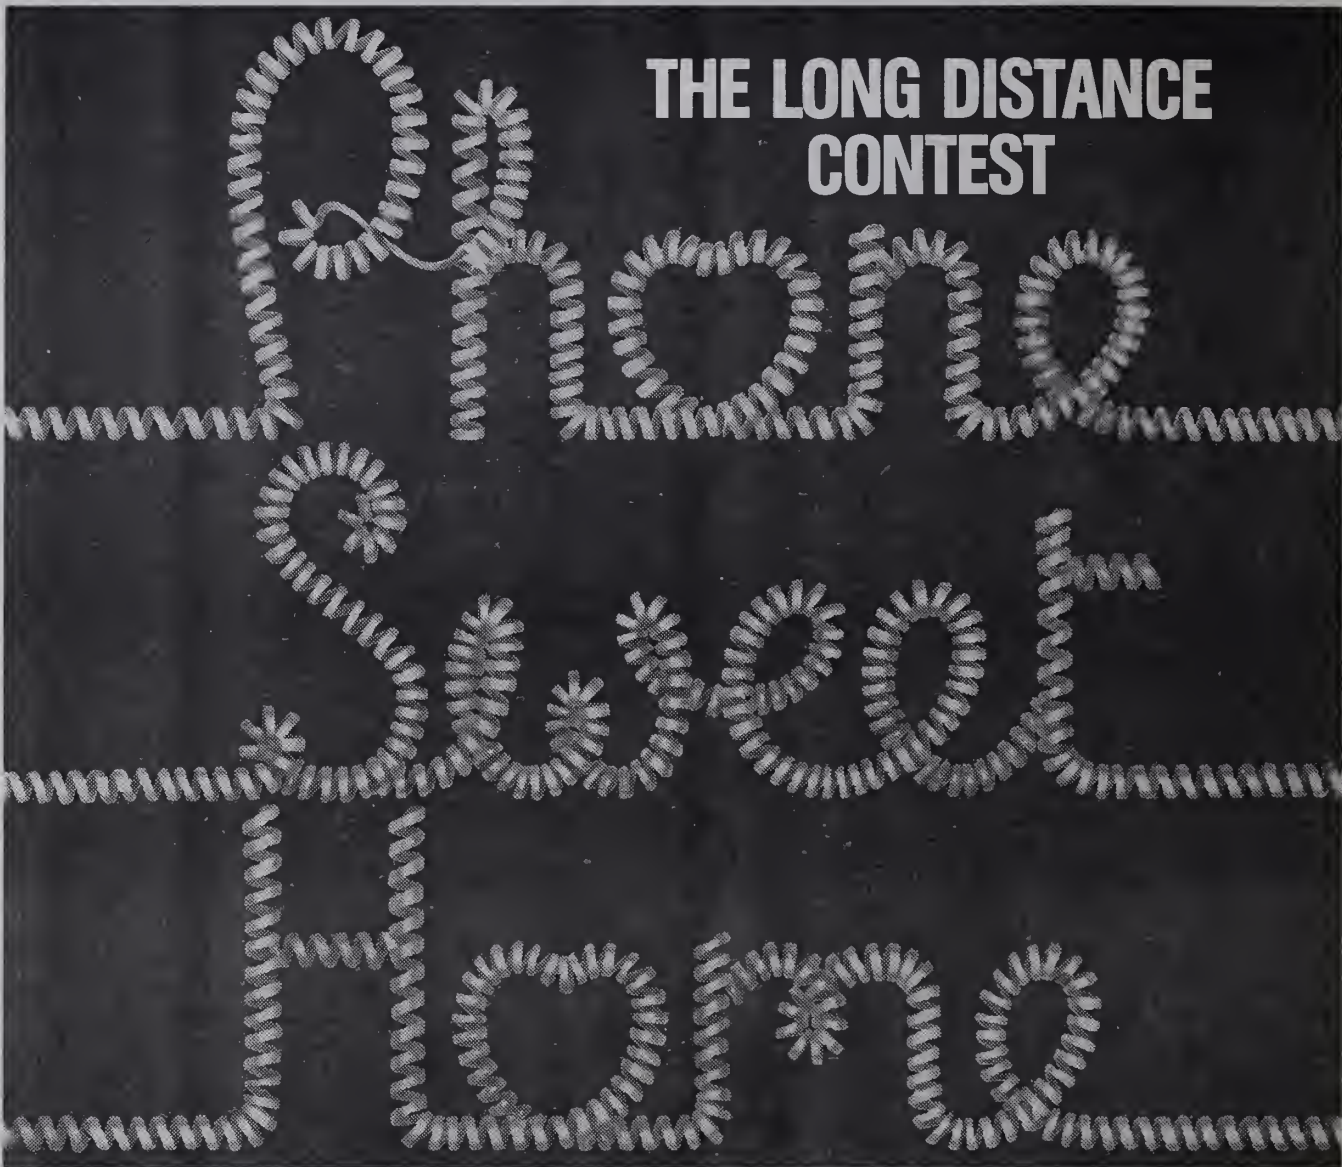

For those whose hearts are close to home, ECARA sponsors its own tennis tournament. It takes place here at the college on the October 1st week end, and the entry deadline for this tournament is Friday, September 23. Events scheduled are men's and women's doubles, and mixed doubles, and men's and women's singles in novice and advanced categories, so there is something for everyone.

Irene Catsibris will be coordinating all of these tennis happenings, so entries and questions can be left for her at the ECARA office, Rm. 1114 in the South Building.

The Courtship Begins

The men's basketball team is about to begin a new season under a new coach.

After coaching the team for several years, Athletic Director Bob Ryckman has decided to concentrate on other aspects of the programme. He will be difficult to replace as last season's semi-final finish shows. The new coach will be Programme Co-ordinator, John Robb, who will begin tryouts on Wednesday, September 21st at 5:00 pm in the gym. Coach Robb is concerned about the apparent lack of height on the squad. All three of last year's starting forwards have departed from Erindale; so he is looking for some able replacements. "We're fortunate to have Ted Longauer and Alex Hyrbinsky up front, but they're going to need some help," stated Robb. When reminded that his back court duo of Charles Singh and Mike Drury have also returned, Robb commented that, "Those two could provide some solid work for the team but no one's position is secure. Last year Mike worked hard and beat out a veteran for a starting spot; so a talented rookie could do that again. As far as I'm concerned, all five starting spots are up for grabs". This could make for a very competitive tryout, a fact of which Robb is fully aware. He hopes that it will help to bring out the best in each candidate.

The Warriors will have an exhibition home-and-home series with Sheridan College on October 12 and 21, while the interfaculty league regular season begins on October 17th. So if you want to play ball for Erindale, don't hesitate to come to the tryouts!!

Write Sports!!

The Sporting Life

This season's athletic program is well under way. The women's soccer, field hockey and waterpolo teams will each have a squad in both Division I and II.

Quite a few good athletes have shown up. Things seem to be shaping up for another successful year at Erindale.

Also, the men's soccer, rugby and football teams have begun practices for the '83-'84 season.

Men's Soccer

Only eight Erindale players showed up at the Soccer Tournament held at St. George Campus last week.

Lacrosse

The Erindale Warriors are about to begin another defence of the Dafoe Cup, the symbol of lacrosse supremacy at the University of Toronto.

The Warriors have won the championships in Division 1 for the last seven years. Last year was especially satisfying, as the green machine entered a second squad, and won the Division 2 crown as well. The Erindale dominance of the sport should continue, as big guns Tim and Jerry Power return to provide scoring power. Dependables such as Kevin McCallum and Chris Hundt will move up to the 'A' team to replace departed veterans Will Lincoln, Rick Nieuwendyk, and John Robb. There are also several openings for rookies to fill, so if you are interested, come on over to Room 1114 in the South Building and sign up. Equipment can be provided if you left yours at home, so don't be shy. We'll be glad to see you.

Despite the odds, the Varsity Blues only defeated Erindale by three points, to win, 3-0.

Also at the tournament were 5 government teams, an Iranian team and the St. Mike's team.

Track

Which track and field event is your favourite? Is it the explosion of speed in a spring, the stamina of a distance event or the sheer power of a throwing event?

Whatever your preference, you have the opportunity to enjoy the sensation yourself. Each year the U of T Athletic Department holds a track meet in the fall where non-varsity athletes can get the feel of real competition against human opponents and against the clock. This year the meet will be held on Friday, September 30 from 12 noon to 5 pm at Varsity Stadium. So if you're a dedicated runner or an occasional jogger, why not come out and experience the feeling of pushing yourself while having fun too! You can sign up between 9 and 5 in the athletic office (Room 1114 in the South Building).

Blitz

The Blitz Coed Baseball Tournament will take place Sunday, September 25, 1983, from 10 am to 6 pm.

To enter pick up a team roster sheet in the ECARA office and form your own team. A free agent sheet is available in the athletic office.

Rules are available at ECARA. Have your entry form in by Thursday September 22, at noon. All ECARA members are eligible.
